TERMS OF REFERENCE (TOR)

PROCUREMENT OF MEDIA DATABASE AND MEDIA KNOWLEDGE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

I. BACKGROUND

The Center for International Trade Expositions and Missions (CITEM), the export promotion arm of the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI), is mandated to promote the Philippines as a reliable source of quality export products and services in the global market through trade fairs, missions and other marketing initiatives. The Agency organizes professionally managed and locally held signature events as well as international trade fair participation in key cities worldwide.

For over 30 years, CITEM has helped in developing, nurturing and promoting globally-competitive small and medium enterprises (SMEs), exporters and manufacturers. As a trade promotion agency, CITEM regularly produces marketing and advertising materials for distribution to local and international media platforms. This may be in the form of press releases, photo releases, advertorials and other advertising collateral. In addition, the agency undertakes other promotional initiatives in broadcast media through radio announcements and TV guesting.

Apart from the active mass media campaign, CITEM is determined to strengthen its presence using digital platforms to promote and sustain brand-building for Philippine exports and to reach buyers and exhibitors in targeted market segments through social media. This is a significant and strategic direction for CITEM, considering that digital marketing enables trade show organizers to reach more potential customers than ever before.

II. RATIONALE

In line with the initiatives of CITEM to capture engaged audiences through content marketing, it is imperative to be fully updated on the currently existing media publications and their employed editors and reporters both here and abroad. Being fully informed with the movements in the media industry will enable the agency to effectively plan its media relations campaign and specifically target top tier quad media (TV, Radio, Print and Online) publications that cover the sectors that the agency handles.

A traditional media relations campaign entails manually searching for thriving media entities and a contact person within that target publication. After identifying the target media, it is then important to establish and maintain relationship. Unfortunately, this process can only be done locally therefore, can only target Philippine-based media. This is a tedious process that sometimes result to failure in securing a sure and suitable media contact in each and every publication.

To automate this process, a media database and movement knowledge system has evolved into today's cloud-based, software-as-a-service platforms. This digital and real time monitoring captures the updated contact details of media personalities in various platforms encompassing print, radio, tv and web. The system also shares the updated names of editors and reporters that cover a particular beat such as lifestyle, food and many others. It also reports the current stories that content creators need, making it easier to pitch our brands. The system also supplies the names of media contributors who already stepped down on their respective positions and are no longer connected with the publications. This way time and resources will not be wasted on former contacts and looking for new ones.

Likewise, the media database system is consolidating the available media in specific international regions therefore enabling the agency to tap international media companies.

This media intelligence can be harnessed as a valuable asset by the agency to be fully connected to our target media partners both here and abroad. Through this media networking tool, the agency will always be on the loop on the movements in the media industry within and outside the country. This will likewise strengthen our promotion initiatives and will enable us to effectively reach reporters and editors in key regions we hope to infiltrate such as Asia, Europe and the Middle East.

A clear and real-time media contacts monitoring, and knowledge management system provides important data that can help the agency tap and engage the right audience to better build brand awareness. Through this system the agency can improve its processes in local and international media relations that will help to effectively fulfill its mandate of exports promotion.
